

Community Ambassador

The Community Ambassador Program is a volunteer-based “virtual committee” made up of individuals in various different communities across the country. The purpose is to educate the public about ovarian cancer, the signs and symptoms, and how the Ovarian Cancer Institute is making a strong impact in the fight against ovarian cancer; through speaking engagements, hosting a booth at various events, and reaching community organizations.

- Become well versed in OCI’s annual plan and current research projects to communicate to the community
- Identify and implement opportunities for community involvement & Ovarian Cancer Awareness Month activities
- Create and implement annual outreach plan
- Secure and oversee speaking opportunities for OCI’s CEO, Dr. Benigno
- Recruit and train other community ambassadors
- Introduce prospective donors/corporate partners to OCI staff fostered through community outreach programs
- Host 1 outreach event per year in your community
- Oversee S.Pope Project: an effort to serve survivors through one “pampering option”
 - Culinary Care meals for survivors
 - Teal Mani/Pedis for survivors in the infusion center or salon
 - Massage
 - Wine Tasting
 - Make Up/Over
